the cooperative was to refrain from cutting off the power of any customer if that customer had contacted the cooperative, explained that he could not pay the entire amount and requested that a budget plan be worked out to the satisfaction of both the customer and the cooperative.

Jones, of the Virginia Department of Cooperatives in Richmond said conservation of energy is necessary. He added that every homeowner should check insulation and if found inadequate, improve it; another means of conservation is to check the setting of the thermostat on electric water heaters. In conclusion, Jones stated that if the consumer does not practice conservation of electricity, we will be meeting again within five years - - this time to discuss rationing!

DE Students Attend State Conference

Three students represented Appomattox County High School at the Annual Distributive Education Clubs of American State Leadership Conference held at the Hotel Roanoke March 11, 12, and 13th. They were Donna Ginter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Gunter, Sr.; Linwood Elliott, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Elliott; and Marco Turner, son of Mrs. Mattie S. Turner.

While at the conference, they joined approximately 600 delegates from over 200 Virginia DECA Chapters in electing State Officers and participated in competitive events.

Marco, a senior DE III student, attended as ACHS Chapter's voting delegate. He is employed at Webb Tire Company in Appomattox. Donna is a DE I student. She won the District Parliamentary Procedure contest and represented the chapter in that event. Also a first year student, Linwood took part in the Sales Judging competitive event.

The conference schedule was busy and tiring, but the students were able to meet and make friends with DE students from all over Virginia.
